Warning Regarding Fraudulent Recruitment Advertisement

Mondiale VGL has become aware of a fraudulent Facebook page and recruitment advertisement falsely claiming to represent our business in Thailand. The page and associated job postings are not affiliated with Mondiale VGL and have been reported to Facebook for impersonation and fraudulent activity.

The fraudulent content appears to be using the Mondiale VGL name and brand without authorisation to promote fake employment opportunities and potentially collect personal information from job seekers.

We take the protection of our people, customers, partners, and prospective employees seriously and are working with relevant parties to have the content removed.

How to identify legitimate Mondiale VGL recruitment communications

As a reminder:

- Mondiale VGL will never request payment or fees at any stage of a recruitment process.
- We will not ask candidates to provide banking information, passwords, or sensitive financial details through social media platforms.
- Official employment opportunities are advertised through recognised recruitment channels and authorised Mondiale VGL representatives.
- Communications relating to recruitment will be conducted through legitimate business channels and verified contacts.

What to do if you have interacted with the advertisement

If you have engaged with the page or advertisement, Mondiale VGL recommends that you:

- Cease communication immediately.
- Do not provide any further personal or financial information.
- Report the page or advertisement directly to Facebook.
- Monitor your accounts if you have already shared personal information.
- Seek advice from your local authorities if you believe you may have been affected.
